
Change Control and Risk Management Recap: Day 3

Feb 4, 2013 8:03 am PST

It was a great ending to IVT's Change Control and Risk Management conference! Attendees and speaker alike left educated and confident in their ability to implement change control and risk management into manufacturing facilities.

IVT was happy to receive positive feedback on the conference and the network. Based on attendee evaluations, the conference was one of the highest ranked in Change Control and Risk Management history. IVT Network was also well-received, as current journal subscribers eagerly await the new format of this month's Journal of GXP Compliance.

Two speakers that stuck out based on their presentations were Alan Golden and Roberta Goode. Goode, whose presentations focused on FDA and European risk management regulations, was described as being "extremely insightful." Goode has been working in the medical device industry for 20 years, and is currently president and CEO of Goode Consulting Inc. Golden's presentations focused on implementing and creating effective change control programs into manufacturing sites. Golden was praised for his honest remarks and skillful delivery.

If you were an attendee of Change Control and Risk Management, we hope you had a great time! Please feel free to leave any comments in the comment field below. If you were interested in the Change Control and Risk Management conference, keep an eye out for the conference compendium to be available in a couple of weeks.

IVT would like to thank everyone at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel in San Francisco. Coming up next, Validation Week Singapore!
