The concepts (ideology) and practices (rites/rituals) of validation have historically elicited fear and awe among the uninitiated. For those who have not experienced the “rites of passage” (redlining a P&ID), validation is perceived as an obscure (perhaps dark) science/séance. Today, we increasingly run the risk of promoting such misunderstandings, when in fact validation boils down to something quite simple. As the antidote to these specu

Source URL: http://www.ivtnetwork.com/article/computer-validation-new-clear-age