INTRODUCTION This article will represent the first, in a three-part series laying the foundation in adult learning, regulatory requirements in CGMP training and the CGMP training modalities available to the adult learner. The second article in the series: "Applying Adult Learning Principles in CCGMP Training" will focus on how various training modalities discussed in the first article are fulfilling adult learning needs or creating shortcomings in the adult learning experiences. The third article in the series: "Building Effective CGMP Training Designed for the Adult L
