The nomination period for the 2021 Chapman Award has begun. The Kenneth G. Chapman Award recognizes significant contributions in validation excellence. This award is named for the late Kenneth G. Chapman, who was instrumental in developing the guiding principles of many areas of quality assurance, quality systems, and pharmaceutical validation.

Each year IVT accepts nominations for this award. This is the most prestigious award given by IVT Network, and serves as recognition across industry of the lasting impact the recipient has made in the field of validation and/or compliance activities in pharmaceutical, medical device or biotech manufacturing.

To nominate someone, or yourself, for this award please complete this brief form, or complete the online nomination here. All nominations must be received by Friday, August 20th.

Awards will be presented during the 27th Annual Validation Week on October 19, 2021.
