

Cleaning Agent Selection and Cycle Development

Ivan Soto

By

Oct 23, 2019 3:00 pm EDT

Cleaning validation is a critical department that is always scrutinized during regulatory inspections. Deviations related to cleaning failures are records that regulatory agencies routinely request during inspections. Cleaning failures related to visual inspections and residue left in manufacturing equipment are key indicators of potential issues with the cleaning cycle. One of the principal areas frequently overlooked is the selection of cleaning agents. Typically, most validation engineers and subject matter experts confronting cleaning failures, concentrate their efforts on the cleaning cycle...

Source URL: <http://www.ivtnetwork.com/article/cleaning-agent-selection-and-cycle-development>