

Paper Versus Electronic Records

Dec 7, 2021 8:00 am EST

In GMP regulated environments maintaining proper records and documentation is critical to data integrity, regulatory compliance and GMP best practices. Starting with Part 11 more than two decades ago, we've seen an emphasis on good record keeping and a shift to paperless. Still, paper-based systems are prevalent around the world, but given our current environment and reliance on digital technologies are we now at a point where the industry is ready to embrace that shift? In this episode we discuss the details on this topic and more, with industry expert Chris Wubbolt.
